Samuel J. Tilden and Thomas A. Hendricks both died childless. Both were able lawyers; both accumulated considerable property; both made their money in the full vigor of their mental powers, and both have a lot of collateral relatives who possess to contest their wills. In view of these facts a prominent lawyer remarks that there ought to be some case method of testing off such relatives for a worthless yellow dog and then shoot the dog.

Mr. William Sieg, of Oakbrook, has made an affidavit, which has been published, that he heard A. K. Delaney say these words: "I wish that son of a bitch of a Dutehman (meaning Gunther) would come down here and run against me." This remark will cost Mr. Delaney hundreds of democratic votes for Mr. Gunther. The probability is that he will be elected by a vote that will surprise the friends of Delaney. That gentleman will soon learn that the way of the immoral politician is hard.

Chairman Walker, of the democratic state committee, has issued a "secret" circular asking that democratic postmasters make a special effort this fall to get out the vote, and in his own words says: "Be kind enough to see personally that no vote is unnecessarily lost to our candidates. For result in the state may depend on your personal action and influence." He not only says this, but he requests that postmasters establish a partisan bureau for the purpose of furnishing the democratic campaign committee with political information. This is one of the many strange ways of carrying out civil service reform.

The State Journal has the following in regard to the Hon. A. P. Lovejoy: "The republicans of the seventeenth senatorial district, comprising the county of Rock, have nominated Hon. A. P. Lovejoy, of Janesville, as their candidate for the state senate, in the place of Mr. J. V. Sale, who had been previously nominated, but whose appointment as county judge made it necessary for him to decline the nomination. Mr. Lovejoy was a member of the assembly in 1879, representing the city of Janesville. He is a native of the state of Maine, is about sixty years of age, and has been a resident of the county he is called upon to represent more than twenty years. He is a man of first-class judgment and ability, and enjoys the respect of all who know him. Of his election by a large majority there is no question."

WISCONSIN'S OPPORTUNITY.

One of the important features of the present campaign in this state is that the attention of the whole country is attracted to it, and consequently much anxiety exists as to the result. The following from the Inter Ocean, shows what the sentiment is outside of Wisconsin, regarding Governor Rusk and the "riot issue":

It is doubtful whether the people of Wisconsin fully appreciate the importance of the election of Governor Rusk. When he checked the riots last May there was a general feeling of applause all over the country from the ordinary elements of all parties, none joining more loudly than the democrats of his own state. Now, when he is re-nominated, and the anarchists and socialists are striving to defeat him, many of these same democrats join the clamor, saying his re-nomination on the "riot issue" was a disgrace to Wisconsin; that it says to the world the state is in danger of being overtaken by a few anarchists, as though a majority of the people were anarchists, etc.

Of course, this is all cheap demagoguery. Nobody thinks the state will be overtaken, or that any such thing as danger is limited. No man believes a word of such nonsense. But the state don't want to be called on every few months or years to put down petty riots—the business of the state don't want to be interrupted even for a week or a day by petty riots. And it is quite certain that there will be no more riots while Jerry Rusk is governor. The riotously disposed know too well what the end would be for that. The poor, deluded creature who are led into riots are taught first to believe a majority of the people are in sympathy with them. The re-election of Gov. Rusk by an increased majority will disabuse their minds on this point and do more to discourage riots than hanging a dozen leaders or shooting a hundred of their dupes. Such a majority will be regarded as the voice of the people on the subject.

Demagogues can argue against governors and make charge of corruption, packed juries, etc., but when the whole people deliver a decision at a state election as to the state, the demagogues are left with a rot packed; the whole people cannot be charged with corruption and venality.

AN APPEAL FOR MERCY.

MADE BY THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR FOR THE CHICAGO ANARCHISTS.

CLOSE OF THE ANNUAL CONVENTION—SYNOPSIS OF THE WIND-UP PROCEEDINGS—LITIGATION AND THE CORRESPONDENCE—SOME REFLECTIONS ON THE KNIGHTS BY CHIEF ATTORNEY OF THE LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERS.

TO THE HONOR OF RUSK.

In Chairman Walker's secret address to democratic postmasters throughout the state to take off their coats and go to work for the democratic state ticket, he makes use of the following language: "The biennial receipts of the Wisconsin state government exceed three and a half millions in money. For many years the disbursements of the state have been committed exclusively to the leaders of one political party. It can not be denied that a change in the state administration now would be not only just, but prudent and wholesome."

Will Mr. Walker please state more particularly why Governor Rusk should be supplanted, or why the republican state administration should be debarred from serving the people any longer?

Will Mr. Walker be kind enough to give one single reason why the democratic party of the state should be placed in charge of state affairs? What has the democratic party done to entitle it to the honor of being placed in power in Wisconsin? What has Governor Rusk's administration done that is no longer entitled to public confidence and a continuance of power?

Let us see.

One of the most remarkably clean administrations ever known in this state, is that of Governor Rusk's. It has been exceptionally good. For the past three years there has been no state tax levied, a thing never before known in Wisconsin. It has therefore been an economical administration. It has also been completely free from scandals of whatever nature. There is not a single blot upon it, no not one, and yet Chairman Walker thinks it the administration of affairs were turned over to the democrats it would be "prudent and wholesome."

But Chairman Walker fails to note in particular why the democratic party should be trusted with the management of state affairs. The last time the democrats were in power in this state excepting one administration, their record does not entitle them to the honor which Chairman Walker claims for them, because the democratic school land commissioners squandered $100,000 of the school fund. This is their record, and although it is an old one, it is entitled to some consideration in the presence of such a claim as that made by Chairman Walker.

It will be a lasting honor to Governor Rusk that his administration has been without a blemish. He has not only made a splendid official so far as economy and rare common sense are concerned, but at a time when his judgment and courage were severely tested, he did an act so thoroughly well as to command the admiration of the people of this country.

For all this shall he be defeated? Never!

The Froze in Florida.

In regard to the freeze in last winter, which would not have occurred, Editor Graves, of the Janesville Herald, says: "It was a Florida great good. We thought when it occurred that every tree was killed. It turns out that the very fewest were killed. Groves that were thought to be lost are now very luxuriant and thrifty. This has reassured the investors and given the orange tree a steady character and fixed value."—Florida Herald.

Heavier Than Ever.

It is said that, notwithstanding Dr. Ward's advice that he fish and shoot industriously in the woods, in order to reduce his flesh, President Cleveland took it very, very seriously, took a nap each afternoon, and thus came out of the woods ten pounds heavier than when he went in, and has never weighed so much as now.

The Mount of the Grave.

The monument that is to be unveiled this month over the grave of Lieut. Goringe at Sparkhill, on the west bank of the Hudson, overlooking Tappan, N. Y., is an obelisk of granite, an exact copy of the Cleopatra's Needle on a reduced scale, the proportions of that work being carefully preserved.

Queer Phases of Insanity.

Nashville has a citizen who in dress and general conduct appears to be perfectly sane, but each morning he gets up early, fills a small bag with food, a little tobacco and some money, goes to the river and throws it in. Asked why he does this, he says: "I don't care anything to let it under the water." One of his brothers was drowned.—New York Sun.

The King and the Doctor.

On the spot in Stenberg lake where the body of the late King Ludwig was found, there now stands a cross with a beautiful wreath of flowers. The doctor, however, where Dr. Van Guilder's body was found is simply marked by a pole.

An Eagle Released.

A big eagle that measured nine feet from tip to tip, captured last spring near Livingston, N. Y., was released the other day. On its leg was a brass tag giving the date of its liberation, and offering cash prizes for the return of the bird.—Cleveland Leader.

One Every Five Days.

Mr. Webb, of the London and Northwestern railway, England, stated in a recent speech in London that a new locomotive is placed on that road on the average every five days, to replace the loss caused by ordinary depreciation.

Facts Worth Knowing.

In all diseases of the nasal mucous membrane the remedy used must be non-irritating. The medical profession has been slow to learn this. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with douches, snuffs, powders, syringes, aspirators or any similar application, because they are all irritating, do not thoroughly reach the affected places and should be abandoned as worse than failures. A multitude of persons who have for years borne all the worry and pain that catarrh can inflict testify to the radical and permanent cure wrought by Ely's Cream Balm.

Valentines' School of Telegraphy

Offers to all who are desirous of acquiring a profitable trade, thorough instruction, and through its connections with RAILROADS and TELEGRAPH COMPANIES, immediate employment for its graduates, where promotion is only limited by merit. The following letter is from a former resident of Lima, Rock county. Since it was written we have sent Mr. Teetshorn about thirty more operators.

GREEN BAY, WINONA & ST. PAUL RAILROAD
Train Dispatchers' Office,
GREEN BAY WIS., SEPT. 22, 1885.

Valentine Bros.
DEAR SIR: In reply to yours of the 16th inst., would say that during the past year this company has employed about 150 of your graduates. About thirty-five of them are now in its employ as agents and operators, giving good satisfaction, the others have left us at different times to accept positions on other railroads. We shall continue to send to you for operators when ever we need them. In view of the certainty of a great revival of railroad building in 1886, I know of no business which offers equal opportunities for advancement. Being myself a graduate of your school, I heartily recommend it to all who may wish to learn telegraphy.

Yours truly,
E. L. TEETSHORN, Chief Train Dispatcher.

An examination of our school will convince one that our course of instruction is far more valuable than a commercial college course, because we teach our students a trade and then place where they have every opportunity to work their way upward. We have supplied more than a thousand operators for the Western Union Telegraph Company, and as many more for different Railroad Companies. Call and see us or write for our circulars.

The unprecedented sale of Doan's German Syrup within a few years, has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Catarrh of the Urinary Organs. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, and the parts affected and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the disease makes their appearance, will save doctor bills and suffering. It is a true remedy. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price, 75 cents, large bottle.

—This morning the machinery for drilling the theatres well reached the city. Work will be commenced immediately.
 —Janesville Chapter No. 5, Royal Arch Masons, assemble this evening in regular semi-monthly convocation at Masonic hall.

—Chicago comes to the front again. In the ball game with St. Louis yesterday "Asson's babies" won by a score of eleven to four.
 —A sprained shoulder has given Adam Skelly, clerk at J. H. Jones' grocery, a short vacation although it has added nothing to his comfort.

—The circuit court will open next Monday, Judge Bennett having finished his Green county calendar and returned to Janesville.
 —Fresh paint, handsome paper and the colonnades' brush are uniting to make Harrant & Osceola's grocery a thing of beauty in every sense.

—Every one should go and hear our eloquent United States senator, Hon. John C. Spooner, speak on the political issues of the day at the Riverside rink this evening.

—A very bright, fresh and handsome store was the one that F. S. Winslow opened to the Janesville people last night. The three electric lights fairly turn night into day.

—The increased attendance at the select school of Miss Grace E. Hubbs necessitates more room. On and after Monday next she will occupy a large, pleasant room in Court Street church block, on the second floor, entrance on Main street.

—Another victim has been added to the list of the old fashioned over-coupling. Richard Garry, a workman on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road was helping to make up a train this morning, when he met with an accident that will place him on the retired list for several weeks. The thumb and forefinger of his right hand were badly crushed although neither will be amputated.

—An infusion of new life is being brought into the Oberal Union. With a view to bringing in young men Mr. Torrens is devoting the first part of each rehearsal to drill upon the fundamental principles of music and this drill is to be continued through the whole term or as long as members continue to come in. It is hoped that two hundred youths will be secured before the winter is over.

—In the fourth ward the property owners are smiling at some of the city orders that reach them. One man whose property is on Jackson street was instructed "to have a new sidewalk laid along the River street front of the lot that you now occupy," while another received as a birthday present order to repair a sidewalk that he had finished laying only one week before. Both were rather confused. They went to the ward alderman for an explanation and he kindly told them that they need not obey the orders unless they wanted to. The question now, what city orders are for.

—John W. Whitehead, president of the Associated Charities, now in Chicago, writes, "I saw Alex. W. Johnson, secretary Chicago Organized Charities—he will go to Janesville on the 31st of Oct.—Mr. Johnson has had great and successful experience in charity work, and we hope everyone who can will hear his talk upon the subject. The rooms of the Associated Charities, in Jackson's block are open every afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. The ladies would be glad to have anyone interested in their work call at these hours, or if you cannot come please try and contribute clothing to them in making the destitute comfortable."

—"Don't you wish you knew some of the things that happened up north," remarked a member of the Angle Worm Club to a reporter this morning. "If you did, there would be some stories told that would beat the record. But you see, when a fellow sits out in the cold all day and then, when he goes to a dear, finds that the boys have left him with a gun full of blank cartridges, he doesn't care to tell very many yares on the ice. He did, they might 'come back' on him," and the dear slayer heard a deep sigh that deeper than words the trials he had been through.

—"No choice no washes," remarked Wan Lung, the head clerk in Janesville's new Chinese laundry last night. The intoxicated young man who wanted his linen, but who couldn't produce a ticket took offense at these words, and drawing a knife, started to clean out the place. He followed the Mongolian with a consumptive surname back into the laundry, only to find that the tables were turned. Wan Lung had armed himself and as the young man looked into a stubby thirty-two caliber revolver barrel he at once admitted that the books were probably correct. The Chinese may not understand double entry but their method of settling claims is simple and expeditious.

—There was unusual interest shown by Janesville Young America in matters around the Northwestern switchyard this morning. The center of attraction was a train that pulled in a few minutes before eight o'clock. Each car bore the words "Burr Robbins Consolidated Shows," and each was loaded with some part of the circus outfit. The busy and bustling scene when a show comes, had apparently been left behind, for even the horses acted as though they knew that their work was almost over. One by one the nineteen cars that made up the train were unloaded, the wagons rumbled off toward Spring Brook and Burr Robbins scene of 1886 was fairly ended. The last stand was at Freeport yesterday, where the show was well attended.

TABACCO SMOKE.

A Tobacco Shed with Ten Acres of Smoking Tobacco Burned.

At one o'clock this morning an alarm of fire was given by locomotive whistles in the switch yards. The alarm was promptly taken up by the fire bells, and the fire department turned out in response. The west side engine driven out knowing from whence the alarm came, made haste to reach the fourth ward fire cistern, while the other, in somewhat better luck, made a closer guess, and went for the first ward cistern. The fire was beyond the city limits, in the town of Janesville, and was the tobacco shed of Mr. Baumont De Forest, containing ten acres of hanging tobacco. All was totally destroyed. The shed was a substantial structure 40x80 feet, with an L shaped feet, costing in building about one thousand dollars. The total loss will reach $200. The building was insured for $200, and the tobacco for $750, by St. Mary.

The tobacco was stored in the Washington Fire and Marine, and the building in the British America of Toronto. On reaching the first ward fire cistern, the department was ordered to return. Assistant Engineer Horn finding the fire to be beyond the city limits.

"When lovely women stoops to folly," and goes out in the snow without her India rubber, the only art she can hold is to buy one bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, at 25 cents, and take it.

—To night at the rink, Senator Spooner.

 The wedding of Mr. Joe. W. Rice and Miss May Barker, took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Barker, last evening. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Dodge in the presence of a small company, most of whom were relatives of the contracting parties. The newly married couple left on the nine o'clock train for Oshkosh where they expect to remain until some time next week. Both parties are, as has been said, well known and highly esteemed. The union is a most happy one and all will unite in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Rice much joy.

STEVENS POINT!

Stories Told by the Witnesses in the Haseltine Case.

How Morse Received Haseltine at the Bank on the Day of the Shooting.

Yesterday's Testimony in the Case.
 (From the Milwaukee Journal.)

STEVENS POINT, Wis., Oct. 20.—Witnesses for the state were examined this morning in the Haseltine homicide case. It was announced by Mr. Winnes that all the testimony for the prosecution would be in by Thursday evening, so that the arguments could be made until the case began to the jury Saturday afternoon.

To-day there is but one opinion expressed on the probable result of the trial—that the defendant will be acquitted on the special plea of temporary insanity. As the case proceeds it is evident that the prosecution was not prepared for trial at the present time. The state is unable to produce the pistol with which the shooting was done, although it was in the hands of the officers immediately after the shooting, but was subsequently surrendered to the defendant's law partner.

The state has three witnesses subpoenaed to whether two or three chambers of Haseltine's revolver was empty when he was discharged. On the contrary, Morse's pistol was carefully preserved, and observed being empty. The state is unable to produce a witness to show whether it was or not, although a glance would have decided this important point, and a number of persons are known to have examined the weapon immediately after the shooting. Where the state has a great advantage in the expert testimony, Dr. Wipertus having proved himself a poor witness, while Dr. Kempster is one of the best insanity expert witnesses in the country.

This morning Senator Vorhies asked permission to put a question to Judge Cate. Witness testified that Haseltine was in Waukegan Wednesday and Thursday previous to the shooting, and left for home Friday morning. A. B. Bosworth, a laborer, was the first witness expert to the state. He testified that he was president of the First National bank, where Morse was employed. He said Morse came to Stevens Point in 1883, assisted in organizing the bank, and was its cashier to the time of his death. Haseltine & Raymond were the attorneys for the bank. Witness said Haseltine's reputation as an attorney was good previous to the shooting, and that he had practiced in the county, state and federal courts. Witness said Haseltine was in the bank the day of the shooting about 1 p. m., and drew the balance due him on account of $1,000. Morse spoke in Haseltine's passing the time of day. Talk was held regarding overdraft. Haseltine told Morse he had bills to pay. Witness did not see Haseltine later in the day.

Morse usually spoke to him in his big pocket. Morse usually spoke and walked with his hand in his big pocket. His pistol was always kept in the bank. His revolver was in its usual place on the day of the shooting. Morse took the revolver with him when he left the bank and the revolver was in the drawer when Morse went to the door. One chamber of the revolver was empty when Morse took the revolver from the bank on the day of the shooting. It had been kept in that position since the shooting. Morse was with his wife, between 4 and 5 p. m., on the day of the shooting. They were in a carriage and the top was down.
